

KNIFESTYLES OF THE RICH & FAMOUS

2000

FOREHEAD

"It appears that Christina has had Botox between her brows and under the ends of her brows to give a little lift," notes Houston's Dr. Mirwat Sami. Cost: $2,000 a year.

EYES

"I'm surprised to detect that she's had her upper eyelids done," says Philly plastic surgeon Dr. Lyle Back. "The lids now have crisp, clean, youthful lines." Surgery runs $5,500 to $8,500.

NOSE

"Since 2000, her nose has become well-tailored and sculpted," observes Dr. Back, who credits rhinoplasty (up to $12,500). She's also likely had filler in her "nasolabial folds," adds Dr. Sami.

LIPS

"Christina always had a beautifully full lower lip but a disproportionately thin upper lip," shares Dr. Back. "Filler in her upper lip [$600 a pop] has corrected it nicely."

Xtina's Knockout Nip-Tuck

After two seasons away from her red throne, Christina Aguilera returned to The Voice in February as a changed woman. Pundits focused on the diva's kinder, gentler attitude. But experts in the finer points of facial features noted some other refinements as well. At 34, it seems Xtina "has had some very interesting work done," shares Philadelphia-area plastic surgeon Dr. Lyle Back. "A new, well-tailored nose and excellent injection fillings — for the modest plumping of her cheeks — lend her a classy, elegant look." Most surprising to both Dr. Back and Houston ophthalmologist Dr. Mirwat Sami (neither of whom treat Christina), is her apparent upper eyelid blepharoplasty, a surgery to remove skin and sculpt fat in the eyelids. "It wasn't done because of aging," observes Dr. Back. "She was born with full, heavy upper eyelids that created a somewhat tired, sleepy look. Removing that extra skin made a tremendous difference!" Paired with the contouring effects of Botox and fillers,

Dr. Sami says, "Christina looks sharper and more sculpted. She's taking gentle and sophisticated measures to improve her aesthetic quality and avoid the aging process." In other words, Xtina looks even better than when she first popped out of that genie bottle! L&S

Jessica Alba

Only her doctor (and possibly her hairdresser!) knows for sure, but the Sin City actress appears to have had her beak tweaked sometime around age 20. In 1998, left, it appeared decidedly wider and less chiseled from the top of the bridge down to the nasal tip. While the Honest Company exec has never confirmed the surgery, one thing is certain: Guys we polled say the 33-year-old beauty is now all but perfect.

MIRACLE IN A JAR

SKIN SMOOTHER WITH STAYING POWER!

This cell-renewing exfoliator goes the extra mile to wipe out wrinkles. After polishing, ingredients are said to stay trapped in the dermis, so the formula keeps working — even after it's been rinsed off.
